

This is the post about what Yokomine speak when he is drinking tea and having a usual conversation with co-workers sometimes. You might be able to find out some differences between his public speech and private speech. Please enjoy.

Once in a while, we have a chance to see some different aspect of children which I didn't expect. This time, I am going to introduce a girl who is trying to stop baby to cry, also the children's wishes on the Festival of the Weaver which makes me think their parents and teacher are providing good-care to children. I was asking to Mr. Yokomine about this story however the answer I got from made changes of my sense of values.

There is no child without the kindness, just leave it as it is to children.

☆According to Yokomine, Adults cannot interact to children as a girl in this picture does. For instance, adult say too much words, and trying to teach, however, children does these things without word as if nothing, right? Adults cannot behave as a child, and we are on the different level. Children is in higher place than us. For girls, they own maternal instinct since they born such as tolerance, endurance with successive effort, self-possession, gravity, and perseverant which necessarily for raising child, these qualities that one possesses from birth for female equally.

So, please be focus on raising such great qualities, please don't think about teaching stuff. One more thing, in this period of the age, every time I say they are still in God's place, it means they have special abilities. All the children are in God's place until they turn 7 years old, means it, correct? The special abilities which adults will never understand, with the abilities, they learn a lot of thing to grow.

☆It is great to know that children can express their feeling on the strip of paper for the Festival of the Weaver. (Their hand-writing is beautiful, they want to write and study more because it is beautiful) I feel adults need to learn about children's kindness after you see the picture. Children has such wonderful mind, but parents spoil them or push them hard to kill that mind. What is worse is to pay too much attention or push them into something which they are not willing to take. I am strongly wishing that you believe in children's possibility and talent and take good care of them.
