

This is the post about what Yokomine speak when he is drinking tea and having a usual conversation with co-workers sometimes. You might be able to find out some differences between his public speech and private speech. Please enjoy.

Every day, time past so fast when we are taking care of children. One day, I just realized I am taking out of children following to the wind and spend all my time with it. The goal of raising child for Japanese society is becoming like to let child to enroll in good university, and there is not much chance to ask people who is around my age, it made me think how delicate child-rearing is. Thereupon, I asked Yokomine again. These matter has so many different situation, so, I' m going to ask him from the various angles ! I would love to ask him at first is 'What is going to be a base of child rearing?'

Yokomine says, we need to think about more deeply the role you are going accomplish by own in the society because, nowadays, the world is changing so drastically. We need to keep eyes on the world to think about the future. For children, (if they are healthy enough to work) first of all, we need to let them stand on their own feet. Next, they need to accomplish by themselves through the experience such as work, sports, or marriage. There is various type of life people will be through, and you are the only one who can decide a role that you accomplish. For example, for male, if he married someone, and only if he is healthy enough, he should make money to not let his wife and children to live on the street. Such things you need to think about more seriously. The world is changing, of course the work style is also changing. If you cannot change your mind-set easily and be flexible, you will be unhappy because you cannot accept the changes and that is so obstinate.

The best ability I have is being flexible about everything from my early life. Sometime people said to me that I am too indecisive. (because I change my mind easily) However, I am taking this as it is a part of special ability because I am indecisive, in a positive way, I have the quality of being adaptable or variable for the world. If you cannot be flexible, you cannot manage a company. The world is keep changing you need to follow too. Anytime, even though the world has been changed, at last, it always reaches to the end of helping out people. Helping out people makes you happy. To feel happiness, you can do something to someone to contribute, it could be only for a person. As you born as a human being, you should look in to the future, and you want to raise children. For the time being, your children need to attend elementary school. You' d love to make your children to feel they love elementary school, like they really like to go school is it correct? Also, you' d love to raise your children who has kindness and well-balanced. For that, what you need to think is what exactly thing you need to do. The worst thing which parents should not do is seeing only current situation. Some parents cannot think of their future and spoil them even though Children never listen, being so selfish, and act in an egotistical manner. Could you imagine what is going to be happen if their children are in school?? Please think about your children and also how you treat them. Is your child listen to you?
